

PHOTO RELEASE

Minister for Trade and Industry Lim Hng Kiang visits the Singapore Pavilion at the Inaugural China (Beijing) International Fair for Trade in Services

(From left) H.E Stanley Loh, Singapore Ambassador to the People's Republic of China, Minister Lim Hng Kiang, IE Singapore's Group Director, China Ignatius Lim and CEO Sino-Singapore Tianjin Eco-city Investment and Development Co. Ho Tong Yen. (Photo courtesy of Ministry of Trade and Industry)

Minister for Trade and Industry Lim Hng Kiang toured the Singapore Pavilion at the China (Beijing) International Fair for Trade in Services (CIFTIS) on 28 May 2012. During the tour, CEO of Sino-Singapore Tianjin Eco-city Investment and Development Co. Ho Tong Yen (right) gave an overview of the Tianjin Eco-city project. The double-storey pavilion features 20 Singapore companies and chambers across six key services sectors, namely F&B, retail, urban solutions, transportation, healthcare and education, sharing with international participants at the exhibition their expertise and how they can contribute to China's next phase of economic development.

The Singapore Pavilion at the inaugural China International Fair for Trade in Services (CIFTIS) features 20 Singapore-based companies and chambers across six key services sectors namely F&B, retail, urban solutions, transportation, healthcare and education. (Photo courtesy of Ministry of Trade and Industry)